Webinar Description: Today's world of unrelenting change and uncertainty requires that we possess a level of resilience far greater than ever before. Traditional stress management techniques aren't enough to develop the adaptability, vitality, and serenity needed to face the demands of the world we live in.

Drawing from both leading edge research and time-tested wisdom traditions, David Lee's approach to resilience will provide you with provocative perspectives and practical strategies for increasing your capacity to live in the midst of change, challenge, and uncertainty with serenity, optimism, and vitality. This program is especially useful for people going through major life changes, such as health challenge, career transition, job loss, or the ending of a relationship.

About David: David Lee is the founder of HumanNatureAtWork.com and WhateverLifeBrings.com. He has worked in the area of change management and resilience for over 25 years, both in helping individuals increase their capacity to deal with stress and change—and heal from trauma—and helping organizations reduce employee stress while increasing productivity. He has worked with organizations and presented at conferences both domestically and abroad.

An internationally recognized thought leader in the field of optimizing human potential, he is the author of over 60 articles and book chapters, and has worked with organizations and spoken at conferences both domestically and abroad. His program “Becoming Resilient” has aired on public radio throughout New England.
